The City of Tempe's Edna Vihel Arts Center is seeking instructors for virtual early-childhood visual art classes. The fall schedule is from Nov 2nd- Dec 18th with options to continue teaching in future sessions. Must have teaching and art experience. Participants of these parent/child classes will join their class remotely through Zoom, and instructors will teach the courses from our onsite art studios. Selected candidate will receive paid training in Zoom and virtual pedagogy.

*We have made modifications to our safety protocols within the studio to ensure the utmost safety for our instructors.

Peewee Picassos: Pablo Picasso said, "Every child is an artist." Make colorful artworks inspired by famous artists and diverse cultures, from ancient times to the 20th century. Up to two children per adult.

Mini Arizona Artists: Whether you are a long time resident or new to the Southwest, there is a lot to discover in this class. Each week you and your child will learn something new about our local landscape, animals, history and culture through fun, age-appropriate art projects. Explore using clay, paint, recycled materials, nature and found objects.

Art through the Pages: Each class will be inspired by a favorite children's book. After reading the story and discussing the illustrations, you will use a large variety of art materials and textiles to create an art piece based on the book. This class encourages the exploration of textures, colors and shapes.

Applicant Requirement: Requires successful completion of selection process, completion of background investigation and verification of identity/work authorization.
